

2015/03/05 – Summit Lake. “Thing Walking Across the Lake”:

A medical doctor traveling in his car observed a strange figure walking across frozen Summit Lake on March 5 (or 6), 2015 in the early afternoon. He simply described it as a “Thing walking across the lake,” but commented, “If there is a sasquatch, that is what this was.” His friend was following him in another car and also saw the oddity. The doctor stated that it was about 900 to 1,600 feet in the distance and appeared to be between 7 and 8 feet tall; extremely large with long arms. It was walking with a “plodding stride” on two legs and gave the impression that it was hair-covered—clothing was not discerned. He observed a dog following the subject (not pursuing it) at about 40 feet.

This file photograph of Summit Lake and the highway indicates that the witnesses would have had a good view of anything on the lake where there were no trees blocking their view. We can also see that the lake is essentially locked-in with wilderness and mountains.
